Expert Dialogues: Navigating Clinical Cases For Young Professionals

Session Date & Time: Saturday, 17 May 2025, 13:10–14:40

Call for Case submissions from Early Career Investigators

Have you ever had sleepless nights over a challenging patient case? Encountered clinical scenarios that didn't go as planned, despite following guidelines? We have created the perfect opportunity for you to present and discuss these cases with a panel of experts in the field of PGHaN.

We invite Early Career Investigators to submit their most intriguing and challenging clinical cases for review by the Young ESPGHAN Committee. The selected cases will be presented during a dedicated session at the upcoming ESPGHAN 57th Annual Meeting, offering valuable insights and an engaging discussion with experienced professionals.

Please note that submissions are open only to those who will be available to attend and present onsite, as virtual presentations will not be accepted.

We look forward to receiving your submissions and to you joining us for an engaging session that promises to offer invaluable learning and professional growth.

The application period is now closed. Those selected will be notified in due course. We look forward to having you join us for what promises to be an engaging and educational experience.
